Qualifications

Please describe your relevant analytical skills.

As the Chief Financial Officer for a rapidly growing small business, I am comfortable working with numbers, developing projections, and making decisions. Most of the time I work with a degree of uncertainty because there are always assumptions in projecting out; I assume this would be the case with the Redistricting Commission as well. The type of work I do day in and day out includes: financial reporting, managing our operations, and aiding in business development. As an undergraduate I studied economics which is how I learned the skills that help me do my job every day. I am also comfortable explaining my analysis to a diverse group of people, many who do not share my aptitude for data. I work primarily with realtors and interiors designers who often have different strengths. I work with them successfully by communicating clearly, and by creating a team environment.

Please describe your ability to be impartial.

On a day to day basis I serve as a mediator between our employees, independent contractors, clients, and owner of our businesses. It is imperative to our company that I am able to be impartial and fair when I am dealing with all parties. Throughout my life I have served in leadership positions for various organizations. My ability to see all sides of an issue, make fair decisions, and take action has made me successful as a leader.

Please describe your appreciation for the City of Austin's diverse demographics and geography.

I have a deep appreciation for Austin's diversity and geography through my neighborhood, business, and community involvement. In Austin, your community helps to form your identity. As a proud resident of a house in 78704 that was built in 1900 and was once part of a dairy farm, I appreciate where Austin has been and am dedicated to keeping Austin true to its roots. As someone who works for a small downtown business I also have an invested interest in Austin growing in a well-planned way. Although I am not a native Austinite, my dad and three brothers were all UT alums and I grew up coming to Austin for football games while watching the city's transformation. Since moving to Austin myself in 2003, I have seen the city grow and develop at a rapid pace and know that there are many moving parts involved in growing in a healthy manner. I think I represent a large group of people who came here for a college, but fell in love with the lifestyle and uniqueness Austin has to offer. Through being an active member of the Junior League of Austin I have spent upwards of 50 hours a year volunteering on the eastside and learning about the Austin community. I belong to the Real Estate Council of Austin as well and through my involvement have learned more about the issues affecting our city and how I can get involved.

Please provide any other information you wish to be considered during the selection of the most qualified applicants for the Commission.

I suspect that I am one of the few 28 year-olds who qualify for the commission, but believe that I represent many young people in Austin who chose to educate themselves, begin a career, and I one day start a family here. I have been active in city elections and believe that voting does make a difference. I have spent many hours each month since graduating from UT giving back to the community through Big Brothers Big Sisters, The Junior League of Austin, and other various non-profits. I believe in this community and would be honored to make sure that the boundaries dividing it into 10 districts are drawn fairly and equitably.
